

#MomGoals: Beyoncé Performs To Fundraise For Blue Ivy's School And Slays It

March 7, 2016 | By Charell Star

5 Comments

She may not have been on the docket to receive any awards at the Grammys this year, but Beyoncé will definitely be taking home the 2016 Mother of the Year Award. The Queen B, treated parents, faculty and supporters to a surprise performance during a fundraiser for Blue Ivy's elementary school in Los Angeles on Saturday, March 5. And we thought we were showing off by bringing homemade cookies to the bake sale!

beylite • 9 months ago + Follow

Beyoncé performing at an Elementary School Gala tonight in LA

74.6k views 373 comments Instagram

Mrs. Carter slayed with a capital "S" in a black-and-gold, sequined tiger-print dress as she sang "Crazy in Love," "Halo" and "XO" and kept her backup dancers in formation.

Beyoncé even blessed the crowd with a cover of Dolly Parton's Whitney Houston's "I Will Always Love You."

Beyoncé performing Whitney Houston's 'I Will Always Love You' last night at Blue Ivy's school's fundraiser. pic.twitter.com/gOKFiNkIty

— Beyoncé Reigns (@BeyonceReigns) March 6, 2016

No word yet or how much the event, held at the Los Angeles' Shrine Auditorium and Expo Hall, raised but we can be sure all the attendees and donors felt they got their money's worth.

The school's PTA is going to have to bring their A-game to this year's bake sale to top this one.

When Beyonce performs at Blue Ivy's school fundraiser, setting all types of #momgoals, what are the rest of us moms to do?